

HOMECONTROL FLEX

HomeControl Flex™ allows customers to integrate over 170 smart home products and web services with their security system using the free Internet of Things (IoT) services of IFTTT. IFTTT is a service that lets consumers create powerful connections with one simple statement – if this then that.

HomeControl Flex lets end users leverage wearables, their cars, daily habits, work schedules, almost any part of their lives and devices in their home, to connect with their security system, easily and affordably. Available for the iPhone and Android, HomeControl Flex is ready for activation with Telguard's universal cellular alarm communicators, making it compatible with virtually all residential alarm panels.

Life Safety

Building on Telguard's legacy in security, HomeControl Flex is offered with all of Telguard's UL listed 3G/4G and CDMA universal cellular alarm communicators. With HomeControl Flex dealers can continue delivering professionally monitored security while allowing the end user to self-integrate and self-support consumer products via free IoT services.

Lifestyle

With HomeControl Flex, end users can easily integrate their lives with their security system. They can remotely arm their system with prebuilt automation rules from IFTTT to connect to the ever expanding list of consumer products and services they use every day.

Customized Dealer Portal

HomeControl Flex features a customizable portal whereby a dealer's logo replaces the HomeControl Flex logo, and a color theme can be specified to feature the dealer's brand prominently and give them a closer connection with their end users.

INTRODUCING HOMECONTROL*FLEX*

With HomeControl Flex™, you can focus on supporting exactly what you always did: the professionally monitored security system with basic interactivity.

The rest of the flexibility delivered by HomeControl Flex is self-integrated and self-supported by your customers using the free IoT services from IFTTT.

With HomeControl Flex, your customers will always have the latest innovations, but you will never have the headaches or costs that come with supporting them.
